Projects include structural improvements to the City’s storm drain system, porous pavement projects, and outreach programs designed to educate and change behaviors and attitudes in residents and businesses. Bioassessment Tools for Restoration and Protection The City of San Diego's Stormwater Department is dedicated to using new, innovative technology to efficiently and effectively provide clean, safe water to all San Diego communities. As part of a Supplemental Environmental Project in partnership with the San Diego Regional Water Quality Control Board, the City has developed tools to better analyze the biology of our streams to help us, and others in Southern California, prioritize them for restoration, protection and other projects. The fact sheets linked below illustrate the two parts: a causal assessment screening tool and a restoration and protection prioritization tool. The tools are available to the public, but please note that they require a background and understanding of bioassessment processes to fully interpret the results. This project was undertaken as part of a settlement of San Diego Water Board enforcement action. Information about the tools: CASQA Presentation Bioassesment Tool Fact Sheet Restoration and Protection Tool Fact Sheet Bioassessment Tool Final Report Access to the tools: https://tetratech-wtr-wne.shinyapps.io/CASTool_SMC https://tetratech-wtr-wne.shinyapps.io/RPPTool_SMC 43rd Street and Logan Avenue Project The City of San Diego is installing a Low Impact Development (LID) pilot project as part of roadway improvements surrounding the intersection of 43rd Street and Logan Avenue. The LID effort will use best management practices to help capture and treat stormwater before it enters nearby Chollas Creek. 43rd Street and Logan Avenue Project Chollas Creek Family Stream Team Initiative The Groundwork San Diego Chollas Creek Chollas Creek Family Stream Team Initiative was a grant-funded effort to provide outreach and assistance by engaging the local community to participate in trash cleanup, landscape assistance, and trash collection activities to address illegally-dumped materials and pollutants in Chollas Creek. This program component is considered a non-structural best management practice designed to reduce illegal dumping in the Chollas Creek watershed by providing periodic collection services where local residents can dispose of large, unwanted household items for free. Chollas Creek Family Stream Team Initiative Kellogg Park Green Lot Infiltration Project The California State Water Resources Control Board created Areas of Special Biological Significance (ASBS) to protect our oceans and prevent pollution within some of the most pristine and biologically diverse sections of California’s coast. La Jolla is home to two ASBS, which encompass a large portion of the La Jolla Shores marine environment. To address the run-off issue into the ASBS, the City has developed a priority development project at Kellogg Park in La Jolla Shores. The Kellogg Park Green Lot project is designed as a treatment control utilizing best management practices in the parking lot to treat stormwater and urban runoff. The project includes elements that will capture surface runoff from the parking lot and public right-of-way. The elements will filter and infiltrate the water to minimize pollutants. Kellogg Park Green Lot Infiltration Project Rain Barrel and Downspout Disconnect Pilot Program The Rain Barrel/Downspout Disconnect Pilot Program was developed to study the effectiveness of rain barrel systems in reducing polluted runoff and harvesting water during dry periods. The pilot program was designed as a cost-effective way to reduce polluted runoff from entering San Diego beaches and bays, conserve water, and supplement existing water harvesting efforts. Rain Barrel and Downspout Disconnect Street Sweeping Pilot Studies The City of San Diego continues to explore new ways to help prevent stormwater pollution. As part of this ongoing effort, the Stormwater Division conducted a pilot study of street-sweeping options for neighborhoods adjacent to important waterways. The studies involved the assessment of what kind of street sweeping equipment and sweeping frequency helped reduce the amount of pollutants on our roadways. Street Sweeping Pilot Studies Catch Basin Inlet Cleaning Pilot Study The Catch Basin Inlet Cleaning plan focuses on characterizing accumulation rates and pollutants in four land use settings that broadly represent large areas of San Diego. These areas are specifically downtown San Diego, a single-family residential area in San Ysidro, a residential area near San Diego Mesa College and Tecolote Creek, and a mixed commercial and office/retail area off of Scripps Poway Parkway and Interstate 15. Four clean-outs were performed during the winter season of 2011 to 2012. Catch Basin Inlet Cleaning Stormwater Runoff Impacts of Copper and Zinc Building Materials, Literature Review This report reviewed zinc and copper as pollutants and how source abatement efforts may effectively serve as a best management practice. The study concludes that the lack of studies for the application and management of zinc- and copper-based building materials limits the scientific foundation and understanding about the economic, social, political and environmental implications of restricting the use of the materials. Stormwater Runoff Impacts of Copper and Zinc Building Materials Storm Drain Insert Pilot Study This pilot study evaluated the performance, operations and maintenance requirements of storm drain insert best management practices at eight different locations throughout the City. Five different products were selected for evaluation during both wet and dry weather conditions. The level of effort required to maintain these best management practices was also evaluated. This study assists the City in considering the future implementation of various best management practices and stormwater planning efforts. Storm Drain Insert Pilot Study Preliminary Evaluation of an Illegal Dumping Abatement Non-Structural BMP This report assesses the effectiveness of a non-structural best management practice program designed to reduce illegal dumping in the Chollas Creek watershed. This report documents activities and analysis methods that were used to assess the effectiveness of parts of the Chollas Creek Family Street Team Initiative program that address illegal dumping and trash pollutant issues in portions of the Chollas Creek Watershed. Evaluation of an Illegal Dumping_Abatement_Non-Structural BMP Polycyclic Aromatic Hydrocarbon Transport Study: Project Summary Report Polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons (PAHs) are an ongoing potential source of pollution in the environment; they are released from petroleum products or the incomplete combustion of organic matter, especially related to the use of oil, gas, coal, and wood for transportation and energy production in urban environments. In elevated concentrations, PAHs can be harmful to human health and toxic to aquatic biota. In 2012, the City of San Diego’s Stormwater Department began a several-phase study that sought to determine the sources of PAHs and their relative concentration in the San Diego Bay Watershed. The San Diego Regional Water Quality Control Board also contributed funds to complete the last phase of the study in 2017. Polycyclic Aromatic Hydrocarbon Transport Study Report Appendix A. In a shotgun start, all groups begin play at the same time from different holes, creating a shared event experience and allowing all players to finish around the same time. Because these events are limited, advance planning and timely registration are essential to secure participation. What makes this even more special is that booking fees for these events are waived for residents. Instructions: Residents must download the SD City Golf App and enable push notifications in order to receive the registration notification and the link to register. Tee times will be issued upon availability and on a first-come, first-served basis. IMPORTANT! Submitting a registration or waitlist request does not guarantee a tee time allotment. If you do not receive an email with a confirmed tee time allotted to you, it means you have not been selected. Golf Division staff will send out an email to confirm your tee time. Once filled, a waitlist option will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. Players on the waitlist will be notified of any cancellations. The issuance of a Business Tax Certificate shall not relieve an owner or operator from obtaining any licenses or permits that may be necessary under other provisions of law for employees or for operation of the business. Businesses will be required to self-certify that the business is allowed in the zone that applies to the property where the business activity will be conducted. Businesses may use the following on-line resources to perform self-certification: Visit Development Services Department's Zoning web page for more information. Although The Office of the City Treasurer does issue renewal notices as a courtesy to businesses, the Office of the City Treasurer is not required to send a notice or bill to any person. Failure to send such notice or bill shall not affect the validity of any fee or penalty due hereunder, or the duty of such person to pay required taxes. To receive your billing statement electronically, businesses may register for the Business Tax Program’s Electronic Billing (E-Billing) service. Through this service, businesses can opt to receive renewal reminders via text, email, or both options. For questions regarding the service, contact the Business Tax Program at (619) 615-1500. Do I need a Seller's Permit? If you sell tangible personal property, you are required to obtain a Seller's Permit from the California Department of Tax and Fee Administration (CDFTA) for the purpose of collecting and reporting sales tax to the State of California. To obtain a Seller's Permit contact the CDTFA at (800) 400-7115, visit the CDTFA website for online registration information. You can also apply in person at 15015 Avenue of Science, suite 200, San Diego, CA 92128. Do I need to apply for a Fictitious Business Name?
