It is applicable to employees who perform at least two (2) hours of work in one or more calendar weeks of the year within the geographic boundaries of San Diego. To assist in determining if a work location is within the geographic boundaries of the City of San Diego, employers and/or employees can find the community by City Council District or can enter the specific address of the work location in the interactive geographic boundaries map. If a work location is not within the geographic boundaries of the City of San Diego, but within the County of San Diego, the California state minimum wage and earned sick leave laws apply. Information can be found on the state of California Labor Commissioner's webpage. Minimum Wage All employers must pay each employee, for each hour worked within the geographic boundaries of the City, wages not less than the minimum wage rate as shown on the following schedule: Effective Date Minimum Wage Rate July 11, 2016 $10.50 January 1, 2017 $11.50 January 1, 2019 $12.00 January 1, 2020 $13.00 January 1, 2021 $14.00 January 1, 2022 $15.00 January 1, 2023 $16.30 January 1, 2024 $16.85 January 1, 2025 $17.25 January 1, 2026 $17.75 Earned Sick Leave Employers must provide each employee with earned sick leave. Employees must accrue no less than one (1) hour of earned sick leave for every thirty (30) hours worked within the geographic boundaries of the City; employers may cap the total accrual of sick leave at eighty (80) hours. Any unused accrued earned sick leave must be carried forward to the following benefit year. Employers may satisfy the accrual and carry-over requirements if no less than forty (40) hours of earned sick leave are awarded to an employee at the beginning of each benefit year. Employers may limit an employee's use of earned sick leave to forty (40) hours in a benefit year. Employees may use earned sick leave for all the reasons described in Section 39.0106(a), which includes but is not limited to, time for their own medical care or for the medical care of a family member. If an employer provides, through a contract, collective bargaining agreement, employment benefit plan or other agreement, greater paid time off than the employee would have otherwise received under the provisions of the Ordinance, that employer may utilize an alternative methodology for calculation, payment and use of earned sick leave or paid time off. Important Notice Regarding Senate Bill 616 Safe Time Safe Time means necessary time away from work due to domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking. Best Practices Staying up to date with the cybersecurity industry's best practices might not be very difficult for enterprise-level organizations with a budget that can afford an entire IT Department, but for many local organizations, staying ahead of the curve is often considered too costly of an endeavor. The San Diego Regional Cyber Lab hopes to alleviate some of these concerns by providing our local partners with links to some of the industry's best cybersecurity practices. SANS Security Policy Templates Sometimes the hardest part in addressing your organization's cybersecurity shortcomings is knowing how to get started, and SANS is here to help. SANS is a leader in the cybersecurity industry, and they have provided the public with a wide variety of templates for your organization to utilize as you increase your overall resiliency. These templates cover a wide range of scenarios, including incident handling and application/network security. Learn more about SANS Security Policy Templates National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) Framework At the White House's direction in 2013, NIST was directed to coordinate with key stakeholders across the country to develop a framework, based on best practices, for reducing the overall risk of cyber threats to critical infrastructure. This framework consists of spreadsheets, roadmaps, and more that will allow your organization to increase your overall cyber posture and ensure that you are protecting your core infrastructure to the best of your abilities. A comprehensive assessment of your organization's cybersecurity practices might seem like an overwhelming endeavor, but with access to these resources, including the NIST quick start guide, we believe you will find it to be exceptionally worthwhile. We welcome everyone to enjoy all the event has to offer, but in order to make everyone's experience a pleasant one, please consider the following: PLAN AHEAD. become available close to the time of the event which will feature detailed information and maps for vendors, performances, museums, and more. BE A GOOD NEIGHBOR. Please remember to respect our park neighbors — keep noise to a minimum, dispose of your trash and recyclables, practice good parking etiquette and remember, if you see something, say something! LEAVE YOUR PETS AT HOME. The event welcomes those who require a trained service animal to assist them. For those animals not specifically trained to work in a dynamic, crowded and unpredictable environment, you will be putting your pet in a potentially hazardous and frightening situation. Therefore, we strongly encourage you to not bring your pet to the event. BIKE, TROLLEY, CARPOOL OR RIDESHARE TO THE EVENT. Traffic can be difficult during December Nights, and there are many alternative ways to get to the event. There are free bike valets at the event, and bike lanes leading into the park; a free event shuttle stops at City College, 3rd and A Streets, and Beech St. at Kettner Blvd. to support offsite parking, trolley and bus riders; ridesharing will be difficult on Park Blvd. due to traffic congestion, so both sides of Sixth Avenue near the Cabrillo Bridge are dedicated drop-off and pick-up locations. For more information on shuttle locations and transportation options, visit the Getting There page for the complete guide to all transportation options. PARKING. Pack your patience – Park Blvd. will be crowded, and parking lots within Balboa Park and limited and fill up quickly. If you choose to drive into the park, limited free parking is available at City College (serviced with a free shuttle), and convenient paid parking is available in Lot A at Inspiration Point, Lot B on Presidents Way, at the Zoo, at Roosevelt Middle School, and at San Diego High School. See your parking options. FOR PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES: Parking for people with disabilities is available off Park Blvd at the Fleet Science Center on Space Theater Way, and at the Natural History Museum on Village Place. Learn more about these options on the Parking page. There are also tips for access to a variety of experiences on the Tips for People with Disabilities page. WEAR COMFORTABLE SHOES. You will be walking on concrete sidewalks, grass, dirt and asphalt. There may be some uneven ground, and caution is recommended. DRESS IN LAYERS. Though San Diego winters are usually mild, the ability to add or subtract a layer will go a long way towards your comfort. SAFETY FIRST. Strike a pose and snap a photo of everyone in your group and choose a meeting place in case you become separated. Take a picture of where you parked your car (especially in offsite areas) to help you find your way back. RECYCLE. The City is providing trash, recycling, and organic waste containers throughout the event area. We need you to help us keep Balboa Park beautiful and ecologically responsible. We also ask that you follow these simple rules. Check the status of an investigation. Frequently Asked Questions When can I expect Building & Land Use Enforcement to respond to my report? When a case is opened, it is given a priority level and assigned to staff within one business day. Research is conducted to determine existing approvals and conditions, usually followed by an inspection with the responsible party. Building & Land Use Enforcement’s current Priority of Cases list and inspection target timelines can be viewed here. What does Building & Land Use Enforcement do when a violation is found? If an inspection reveals code violations, staff will determine the appropriate remedy. This may include the issuance of a citation or notice. In most cases, the person responsible for a violation is given an opportunity to voluntarily comply and correct the situation. Once the deadline in the notice has expired, the owner or responsible person may be subject to one or more of the actions below. Abatement - The City may direct a third party to demolish, secure or remove junk and debris. The City will recover costs. Civil Penalties - May be assessed up to a daily maximum amount of $10,000 and up to a total maximum amount of $400,000. Judicial Remedies - The City Attorney can file criminal or civil cases against the responsible party or parties. What does Building & Land Use Enforcement check during property inspections? In general, assigned staff inspects the development, use and condition of a property for compliance with applicable codes and regulations. Can Building & Land Use Enforcement help with barking dogs? Building & Land Use Enforcement does not respond to barking dogs in person. However, an Alternative Compliance Letter can be sent in response to a complaint. When a barking dog complaint is received, Building & Land Use Enforcement staff will open an Alternative Compliance case. After an initial review, staff will send letters to the complainant and alleged violator conveying details of the complaint and guidance for resolution. The letters are valid for 12 months from the date of record on them. These matters are typically best addressed by discussing them with neighbors, and the Alternative Compliance letter emphasizes that approach. If needed, mediation can help resolve questions between neighbors. Community members interested in mediation can contact the National Conflict Resolution Center at 619-238-2400. What if I wish to make an anonymous complaint? Building & Land Use Enforcement will not accept anonymous requests for investigation. Please note that complainant information is kept confidential; however, in rare instances, the City may be required to reveal this information in a judicial proceeding. What does it mean if my request for investigation is closed noting “Closed – Due to Budget” or “Closed – Not Accepted – Budget”? Fiscal Year 2026 Budget cuts have resulted in a reduction of the types of Priority III violations that Building & Land Use Enforcement may investigate. If a case has been closed using either of these closure types, it is the result of these reduction efforts. View the Building & Land Use Enforcement’s current Priority of Cases list. DSD respects the public's right to receive records maintained by the department in a timely manner. DSD receives hundreds of PRA requests each month, so in an effort to improve efficiency and ensure the quickest access to public records, we created the following guide to assist you in making a request. Please note that the PRA process may not be used to answer specific questions; it is intended only to provide records. Building Records Prior to 1955 DSD does not maintain any records prior to 1955. For records of properties built before 1955, please contact the County Assessor's Office at 619-236-3771 or 858-565-5920. How We Can Best Assist You The number one way to help us help you is to make a request for Identifiable records. Generally, the more information you provide us, the easier it is to deliver the requested records. Providing additional contextual information for your request is not required, but it allows Records to conduct a more focused search and may expedite a response. For example, requesting records for an accident that occurred in a stairwell of a cannabis facility: Without context: “Please provide all records related to 1234 Main St.” This request would result in a delayed response and production of documents that are not useful for the requester. For instance, this property history included public hearings, environmental studies, and other document submittals pertaining to the Conditional Use Permit as well as permits for previous uses at the same site. With context: “An accident occurred at 1234 Main St in January 2020. Please provide the inspection report and Building Plans showing the staircase(s) specifications, approval, and completion.” Modifying the original request with additional information can lead to a quicker response with more concise results. For records relating to a property or a group of properties, please provide either: The associated address(es) and/or parcel number(s) and the type(s) of records needed, or A project number for completed or active development and the type(s) of records needed. Providing a specific time frame or date range to search through can help in expedite our research and response. For example, “June 1, 2024 – present.” Please note that there is a 5-year retention policy for emails, so email communication going back further than five years from the current date is not available. If a City Employee assisted in the past or is listed as the point of contact, including their name and contact information in a request can also help expedite the release of records. The Permitting Process Permits and Approvals DSD’s book of business consists of the issuance, review and inspection of various permit types throughout the City, and the enforcement of the Land Development Code regulations. Please note, the City of San Diego has no jurisdiction over properties located outside the established San Diego City Limits. The permits issued by DSD are subject to either a ministerial or a discretionary review process. Ministerial permits are issued by DSD employees on project plans determined to be in compliance with codified standards and regulations, such as a Building Permit for a house. Most permits processed by DSD are Ministerial. In contrast, Discretionary approvals are not allowed by right. Discretionary projects are reviewed and approved by staff after certain findings are made or are subject to a public hearing conducted by a decision maker to deliberate, make findings, and exercise independent judgment. Permits Issued from 2003 to present: Permit information from 2003 onward is available online through OpenDSD, our online permitting portal, and Permit Finder. (Permit Finder Note: There are many instances where parcel numbers have changed over time or no longer exist. If a parcel showing icons for approvals does not appear to run a report when selected, toggle off the “Parcels” layer from the “Layers” tab and select the approval icon(s) to view the associated metadata). Permits Issued before 2003: Ministerial permits issued before 2003 are not maintained in electronic format but are available to inspect and copy. To inspect these records or to obtain copies, you may visit our office in person and utilize our self-service stations during normal business hours. No appointment is required. See our website for the address and hours of operation. Some Discretionary permits issued before 2003 may be maintained in electronic format, but many are not. If you would like copies of discretionary permits issued prior to 2003, we recommend that you submit a Public Records Request prior to coming to our office so that staff can determine in which format the records exist. The cost to make copies is $0.25/page, or if the actual cost of making copies in a specific situation is substantially different from twenty-five cents ($0.25) per page, a separate fee may be charged based on the actual cost of copying the record. Architectural/Building/Floor Plans The Public Records Act exempts certain records from public disclosure. One such exemption includes the architectural renderings used to process certain permits, and DSD will not provide copies of those protected plans except with the express written consent of the designer or architect who drafted the plans. However, building plans can be viewed at our office through an in-person appointment that can be scheduled here. The process to view/obtain plans is outlined here. Public Improvement Plans, “As-Builts,” and D-Sheets DSD maintains drawings of Public Improvement Plans/as-builts and can typically provide these records through the PRA process. Public improvements may include water mains, storm drains, sewer mains/laterals, grading plans, vacations, eases, dedications, traffic signals, road striping, etc. Most recent D-Sheet numbers can be identified by utilizing DSD-P.R.I.M.E. After identifying the needed D-Sheet numbers, all requests for D-Sheets related to franchise utility work should be submitted to 5G_DSD@sandiego.gov. Inquiries for all other private projects should be submitted to DSDRCD@sandiego.gov. Some B, C, D, and L drawings are publicly available from the Engineering and Capital Projects Department. If you have the drawing number(s) for the record(s) you are interested in, please include it/them in your records request. Specify whether you are interested in specific sheets or an entire drawing set. For specific sheets, please provide the sheet numbers. If the drawing number(s) is unknown, provide an address, parcel number, or the streets/crossroads for the area of interest. Maps and Surveys DSD maintains various map types, including Zoning, Parcel, Subdivision, Tentative, Drainage/Sewer/Water, 800’ Scale, and Base. Please clarify which type of map is needed. DSD does not conduct any land surveys. If you are interested in a specific project for which a survey was conducted, please provide the project number. Additional survey information is available from the Engineering and Capital Projects (ECP) department. For information about ECP surveys, please contact them directly. Inspections Inspections are conducted after obtaining a permit and beginning construction work. Inspections are required before any work can be covered or concealed. Additional inspection information is publicly available online here. The date of inspections can be found through our online permitting portal and OpenDSD. Inspection reports for completed inspections can be generated upon request. Providing the permit and/or project number may expedite a response. Permit and project numbers can be found through our online permitting portal, OpenDSD, and the Permit Finder. Additional inspection information is available through our website here. Physical Project Files and Documents Most of the records held by DSD are not maintained in electronic format. DSD began accepting some submittals electronically in 2018. If a project you are interested in was submitted prior to 2018, the records are likely only available in physical format. A full set of files for these projects can be made available for you to inspect and/or copy with an in-person appointment. The cost to make copies is $0.25/page or, if the actual cost of making copies in a specific situation is substantially different from twenty-five cents ($0.25) per page, a separate fee may be charged based on the actual cost of copying the record. Resources DSD’s Open Data Portal contains comprehensive project data. The data available includes information from our legacy system, which contains applications submitted in paper dating back to 2003. The Open Data Portal also contains applications submitted electronically through our current cloud-based system since 2018. Combined, these datasets comprise a detailed catalog of applications processed by DSD since 2003. Documentation related to public hearings, meetings, and notices are available for download from our website. This includes hearings by the San Diego City Council, Planning Commission, Historical Resources Board, and Hearing Officer; public meetings with the Technical Advisory Ad Hoc Committee, Code Monitoring Team, and Wetlands Advisory Board; and public notices for hearings, CEQA compliance requests, and the City Bulletin of Public Notices. The City is delivering new gray trash containers and light blue recycling containers. Green organic waste containers will remain, unless you requested a different number or size in the Residential Waste Collection Services Portal. If your property still has the original green yard waste container, the City will update these to the standard organic waste container later in 2026. If you do not have any green containers onsite at all, please request one by calling us at 858-694-7000. Find Your Estimated Container Delivery Date Request Removal of Old Containers Delivery Process Your new containers will not all arrive at the same time! Gray trash containers will be delivered to all eligible customers first. Light blue recycling containers will follow on a second visit. Green container changes (if applicable) will be made on a third visit. On delivery day, old containers will be removed and recycled. Removal may not necessarily happen at the same time as delivery, but it is expected that containers are delivered and removed on the same day. New City Trash Containers are Coming Soon | Estan por Llegar los Nuevos Contenedores de Basura Delivery Day Instructions On your scheduled delivery date: Place ALL trash, recycling and organic waste containers at the curb—even if they are not full or if we are not making adjustments to that container type. This ensures your household receives the correct new containers and that all old ones are picked up and removed. Leave old containers out until crews complete delivery of your new containers and removal of your old containers. If your old containers or those in your neighborhood are not removed, please request removal. Pull new containers onto your property as soon as possible. Confirm the size matches what you ordered and is right for your property. If it is not, please make a service-level adjustment in the Portal within 30 days. Please wait 1 business day after your containers are delivered to request any changes. Label the containers you plan to keep with your address in the white box on the side of the container. Service Level Adjustments (30 Day Swap Out Period) The Residential Waste Collection Services Portal is now closed for initial service level selections, but you have one more opportunity to make adjustments. Once you receive your new gray trash container, you will have 30 calendar days to: Request a size swap for your trash container. Update your order for recycling or organic waste containers. Order additional containers. Please wait 1 business day after your containers are delivered to request any changes. Important: There is no additional swap out period following delivery of your new recycling containers. The only opportunity to update your order, if needed, will be once your gray container has been delivered. After this 30-day period, the next opportunity to make adjustments will be July 2026. Log in to your Portal account to make your service level adjustments. If you do not already have a Portal account, we recommend you create one now. That way, your account is ready to go if need to make any adjustments. You will also unlock benefits like the ability to see your property's service and fee history and gain access to text and email updates from the City. Log in or sign up today! For questions not addressed here, visit the Contact Us page on how to reach out to the Purchasing & Contracting Department to obtain further assistance. Goods & Services What is the City of San Diego's policy regarding federal funds? The City adheres to Code of Federal Regulations Title 2, Part 200. Please see the policy memorandum for additional information. How do I promote my business to the City? Visit the City's vendor portal and register under all National Institute of Governmental Purchasing (NIGP) codes that relate to the goods and/or services that you can potentially offer to the City. How do I register as a potential vendor with the City's Purchasing & Contracting Department? Visit the City's vendor portal to register as a potential vendor. Registered vendors will be contacted for bidding opportunities and avail of other portal features therein. Where do I find bid and contract opportunities? Visit the City's vendor portal to view a listing of bid opportunities and download bids for goods, services, consultants (architectural and engineering and all other types of consulting services), and construction contracts. If I am not a registered vendor, can I still submit bids to the City? No, you have to be registered through the City's vendor portal to submit bids. What should I expect at the pre-bid/pre-proposal meeting? The pre-bid meeting is used to discuss specifications for a specific bid/proposal, and it allows for vendors to ask questions in order to seek clarification. Not all bids have a pre-bid meeting and attendance is not mandatory unless specified. How are bids awarded? Contracts and purchase orders will be awarded to responsible and responsive bidders who meet all requirements and specifications of the bid. See the Bidding Guidelines for more information about awards and obtaining bid results. How do vendors get paid by the City? The City offers vendors the option of receiving payments electronically rather than by check. This allows for a more timely receipt of payments and provides the vendor with the ability to better manage their accounts receivables. You may obtain information and enrollment forms by contacting the department that is being provided with goods or services. How does the City issue purchase orders to its vendors, suppliers, and contractors? For goods and services (non-Public Works), the City primarily uses SAP Ariba to issue its purchase orders. Some purchase orders are issued using the SAP Materials Management module, but these are exceptions and not the rule. Consultants What is a consultant? A consultant is defined as any professional or technical expert contracting with the City for the purpose of giving opinions, preparing reports, conducting studies, and making recommendations or providing special services in the fields of finance, planning, personnel, public relations, engineering and architecture. Who selects consultants for the City? City departments are responsible for advertising the Request for Proposals (RFP) and recommending award in accordance with either one of the following applicable Administrative Regulations: Administrative Regulation 25.70: Selection of Consultants other than Architects and Engineers Administrative Regulation 25.60: Selection of Consultants for Work Requiring Licensed Architect and Engineering Skills How do I promote my consultant business to the City? Visit the City's vendor portal and register under all the National Institute of Governmental Purchasing (NIGP) codes that relate to your consulting services. Are consultants to the City required to disclose economic interests? It depends. When a consultant is given influence or authority with regard to City decisions, that consultant is generally considered a city official. Such consultants are subject to conflict of interest laws to ensure that their governmental actions do not improperly benefit their financial interests and are required to file a Form 700 (Statement of Economic Interests). Refer to the Fact Sheet on Becoming a City Consultant from the City's Ethics Commission for additional information. Construction How do I become eligible to bid on the City's construction projects? To bid on public works construction projects, your business must: Register via the City’s online vendor portal. Complete the contractor prequalification process (required for prime contractors). Ensure your business information, City of San Diego business tax certificate, and certifications and licenses are up to date. Prequalification evaluates financial strength, experience, technical capability, and compliance with applicable laws, policies, and regulations before allowing firms to bid. Where can I find current bid opportunities and project information? All active construction opportunities are posted through the City’s vendor portal. Registered vendors can: Search for open solicitations. Download plans and specifications. Receive notifications of addenda and bid updates. Access to these tools is free once registered, and registration is required to submit bids. What is the typical process for bidding on a construction project? The general process includes: Reviewing the advertised bid package. Attending optional or mandatory pre-bid meetings/job walks. Submitting questions during the solicitation period. Preparing and submitting a sealed or electronic bid. Participating in bid opening and review. The City manages advertising, bid openings, and evaluation in accordance with municipal and other regulations. How are construction contracts awarded? Contracts are awarded to responsive and responsible bidders who meet all requirements and specifications. This means the selected contractor must: Submit a complete and compliant bid. Meet technical and licensing requirements. Demonstrate the ability to successfully perform the work. Price is important, but compliance and qualifications are also mandatory. What key requirements must contractors meet before contract award? Before award, contractors must satisfy several requirements, including: Providing proof of insurance and required bonds. Submitting tax documentation (e.g., Form W-9). Agreeing to contract general provisions and City policies (e.g., drug-free workplace). These documents and requirements are part of the City’s standard contracting framework and must be completed prior to execution. What happens after a contract is awarded? After award of a construction contract: The City issues a Notice to Proceed (NTP)—often starting with a limited NTP. A pre-construction meeting is scheduled. Project oversight shifts to the City’s engineering and construction management teams. From that point forward, the contractor performs the work under City supervision and contract terms. Regular performance check-ins and reviews are completed and documented. A claim is officially triggered by completing and submitting a DWC1 form to your supervisor. Once a claim is received, Workers’ Compensation has 14 calendar days to decide to accept or delay the claim. During this period, you should be contacted by your Claims Representative and be evaluated by an approved medical provider (Medical Provider Network or pre-designated physician). You will receive an initial claim set-up packet with information about our Medical Provider Network as well as a pharmacy card for prescriptions. If you are not contacted by your Claims Representative, please contact Workers’ Compensation at 619-236-6395. Depending on the facts of the injury, if your claim is delayed, Workers’ Compensation has 90 days (for most of the claims) and 75 days (for certain presumptions) from the day your claim was filed to complete an investigation. You may be asked to supply prior medical records or other relevant information that will help determine your eligibility for benefits. It is crucial that you participate in the investigation to expedite the process. During the delay period, you are not eligible for wage replacement benefits (Temporary Disability, Industrial Leave or 4850). Workers’ Compensation is only obligated to cover up to $10,000 in medical treatment during the delay period and will also compensate for medical mileage during the delay period. If your

claim is later accepted, your annual leave will be reimbursed or you may receive a check from Workers' Compensation depending on how your lost time was covered. Depending on the facts of the injury, if your claim is denied, you will receive a letter explaining the reasons for our denial and your appeal rights. If your claim is accepted, Workers' Compensation will monitor your medical care and administer benefits appropriately until you are discharged from care and/or declared permanent and stationary. Once you are discharged from care and/or declared permanent and stationary, please inform your Claims Representative and they will determine if you are eligible for any further benefits. If you are determined to be eligible for additional benefits, you and your Claims Representative will complete the appropriate paperwork to finalize and resolve your claim. Raised in San Diego, CA, she drew strength from her father's military discipline and her mother's unwavering work ethic as a teacher and bank teller. Overcoming personal challenges, Brandee earned her Bachelor's Degree in Business Management while working full-time and becoming a mother at 21—proving early on that resilience and vision would define her journey. Her path began in media, where she quickly made a name for herself. In 2015, Brandee became Executive Editor of Manik Magazine and went on to create NWFW+—the first New York Fashion Week event exclusively celebrating plus-size women. That same visionary energy led to the launch of Luxe Kurves Magazine, the first luxury lifestyle publication spotlighting curvy women of color, featuring major talents like Rick Ross and Torrei Hart. In 2018, she expanded into digital media with The Brandee J Show on YouTube, inspiring audiences with authentic conversations, bold storytelling, and a mission to empower others to chase their dreams. Whether on the BET Awards red carpet or behind the scenes at NYFW, Brandee built a platform rooted in representation, purpose, and passion. But in 2023, her mission evolved. Seeing a gap in the visibility and marketing of women in sports—especially in professional tackle football—Brandee transitioned from media to sports, launching J Impact Marketing & Management Agency. Focused on elevating women in sports through brand strategy, athlete representation, NIL management, and team marketing, J Impact is breaking new ground. As the Director of Marketing and Brand Partnerships for the Cali War Women's Football Team, Brandee has helped grow the team's reach by over 120%, while securing high-level sponsorships, media exposure, and brand collaborations. Now, with J Impact, Brandee is not just telling stories—she's building platforms for women to thrive in sports, business, and beyond. Her work bridges culture, impact, and innovation, proving once again that when Brandee J shows up, change follows.
